Learning about Leadership

Our leadership focus this term is the gift that just keeps giving. This week we focused on leaders in school and the children were able to explain their roles and their qualities brilliantly in assemblies.

People come in all shapes and sizes and leaders come in all shapes and sizes. Leaders can be introvert or extrovert. They might be great speakers and/or great listeners. They might be kind, motivational, organised. We are all thinking about what our strengths might be and what we might want to get better at.

New homework gave us more nominations of children chosen by children:

- ROYDON is strong, brave, energetic and helpful to all.
- KIAAN is very funny, friendly and has good ideas. Kiaan will cheer everyone up and not let anyone be sad.
- Marwa chose DANIEL because he manages his emotions well; he listens and would give everyone a chance to speak.
- Abigail chose RUBY because she is quiet, resilient and positive
- MARTIN is unique. He wouldn't just follow the crowd and would have his own ideas.

Scout the reading dog comes into school twice a week to listen to some stories. We love him almost as much as he loves cheese!

Staffing Updates

Firstly, and most importantly, we are delighted to announce the safe arrival of Miss Koraltay's new baby girl, Maya Isaacs. Mum, Dad, big sister and Maya are all doing well and enjoying this special time together.

Today we have welcomed Miss Evans back from her maternity leave so hopefully you will see her around again from now.

We have welcomed some new staff aboard in the last few weeks. Bilgi Celepi is supporting us with our attendance administration each morning, which we are very grateful for. Charlotte Cotton has joined our support staff and Carly Adkinson has come aboard as a specialist teacher who will be based in Athena Class for the rest of this academic year.

Welcome also to all our new children and families who have joined us this term. We look forward to getting to know you all better and working together.
